

TOURNEY WINNERS -- Lincoln-Way high school basketball team was the winner in the annual holiday tournament staged in the school gym last week. Lincoln-Way, which had been going great guns up to this tournament last year and was touted as the likely winner, lost out to Braidwood in the finals. This year Braidwood was looked upon as the team most likely to succeed in the holiday competition but it was Lincoln-Way that walked off with the trophy. Team members, coaches and followers were feeling pretty good over the outcome of the tournament. (Semmler photo)

Lincoln Way Wins Holiday Tournament

BY PAUL BROWN

The Knights of Lincoln-Way playing the best ball they have played all year took three straight games in their own Christmas holiday tournament and along with them came the championship. Lincoln-Way played Braidwood for the Championship after easily getting by Grant Park and Beecher. It was sweet revenge.

Lincoln-Way played Braidwood for the championship last year and lost. It was the first loss the Knights suffered last season after 12 wins.

In this year's final game, Ron Yunker broke a home court scoring record with 35 points.

BASKETBALL BALLET--At least that is the way it looks from here. This picture was taken in the tourney at Lincoln-Way which incidentally was won by the host school. This scene was from one of the early games in which Lincoln-Way dusted off Grant Park. The lad wearing No. 33 on his uniform is Roger Kute-meier and No. 41 is Lyle Heideman, of Grant Park. The Lincoln-Way player (in white) is Dan Lajcin. (Semmler Photo)

Ron had 13 field goals in 18 attempts. He also had nine free throws in 11 attempts.

Ken Barnett was high scorer for Braidwood with 26 points.

The Knights hit 24 of 37 attempts from the field for a percentage of 65 and they hit 23 of 35 from the charity line for a 66 percentage.

The Knights jumped off to 15-11 advantage at the end of the first quarter and they led 37-21 at the half. The Comets outscored Lincoln-Way 17-11 in the third stanza for a score of 48-38. The Knights really opened up in the last quarter, outscoring Braidwood 23-10 for a final score of 71-48.

With one second a Braidwood player was fouled with the score standing at 69-46. He made both of his free throws and then Bob Surges threw a full-court pass to Ron Badten who dropped in a 15 foot shot with the sound of the buzzer.

Grant Park beat Plainfield 81-78 to take the consolation championship.

Friday the Knights are host to Bremen of Midlothian in a conference game.

Name Winners In Frankfort Light Contest

Winners in the annual Christmas lighting contest sponsored by the Frankfort Lions club have been announced by Wendell Morrison and Donald Schroeder, committee co-chairmen.

First place went to Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hoger, of Arbury Hills. Second place went to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Simon (Simon is the Frankfort police chief), and third place was taken by Isabelle Harmening, Frankfort.

The following received honorable mention:

Glenn Warning, Leonard Patterson, Paul Lambrecht, Glenn Schroeder, Frank Grey and Ralph Dralle, all of Frankfort; John Smith, Arbury Hills, and John VanDonk, Lincoln Estates. "The judges were from Chicago Heights and Joliet," Morrison said, "and in no way related to anyone in the Lions club or the community."

"We suggest that everyone take the time to drive thru the communities and see all of the wonderful decorations," Schroeder added.

Girl Color Guard Teams To Compete For Title

A spectacular show of precision drills, pretty girls, music and entertainment will be a part of the "COLORS IN MOTION" color guard contest at the Lincoln Way high school gym Saturday night Jan. 13th. Fifteen color guard teams from Illinois and surrounding states will appear in an attempt to wrest the championship crown from the "COLORS IN MOTION" champions the Fantomettes of Rockford as well as compete against the nationally famous "Shadows" of Kankakee.

The Dominos, the all girl Color Guard of Frankfort sponsored by the Bobzin-Swinford Post #1098 American Legion will be the hostesses for the evening. They will perform an exhibition drill at the beginning of the show, but by the rules of the Color Guard Association will not be allowed to compete in their own show.

Lt. Howard Osmus will be the reviewing officer for the evening. Committees are as follows: advance ticket sales, Dan Hecht, Walter Haakinson, Ken Brown; ticket sales at door, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Greenman; fire prevention and doorman, Orville Schinkowski; Warren Anderson; refreshments, Mae Eastman, Evelyn Lühring, Mrs. Harold Schiffer; publicity, Ken Oetter.

Doors will open at 6:30 o'clock and the starting time for the show is 7:00. The public is invited. General admission will be $1 for adults and 50¢ for children under 12 years of age. Proceeds will be used for uniforms and operating funds for the Dominos.

Ted Lutger, Commander of the Frankfort American Legion, says this will be an exciting and entertaining spectacle and urges everyone to attend

Students Of Business See Good Year Ahead For Nation

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

The predictions for business in 1962 are mostly on the superlative side. United Business Service suggests that 1962 may be the most prosperous year in history, for many businesses.

The 1962 forecast of National Securities and Research Corp. reports that the economy is operating at a record high and expected to go higher during the year.

Fortune's monthly feature - Business Roundup - for January reports general business as 12 percent higher than last winter's low and 18 per cent higher than 1957. This article expects an increase of another $28 billion between mid 1962 and mid 1963 with the boom conditions that were forecast in their study published in July, 1961.

The U.S. News & World Report of the year-end states that almost every measure of business activity shows the economy at new highs and heading upward. The prediction is made that 1962 will be a record year.

Financial World adds its voice to those predicting new records in business activity for 1962.

The one sour note is as regards labor demands in the coming year.

It will be recalled that the Administration requested management not to increase price structure to compensate for increased wages gained somewhat thru government persuasion. The President made a plea for labor restraint in its demands. At the recent Miami AFL-CIO convention, leaders urged the unions to push hard for higher wages and shorter hours, in 1962 negotiations.

Realistic students of the labor movement, have not been surprised at this turn of events. It has been noted that labor leaders occupy very powerful positions and are prisoners of their own power. Regardless of the personal belief and analysis of events and likely results, the labor leader must demand greater advantages or lose his position to one of many who are ambitious to replace him.

The National Bureau of Economic Research which cannot be considered as other than non-partisan, has found that labor has gained 121.8 per cent of gains resulting from increased industrial productivity between 1948 to 1957. In the same period capital invested in industry saw its reward shrink by 21.8 per cent altho capital provided tools and research to achieve the industrial productivity.

The profit squeeze by labor demands, is said to be one of the reasons for increases in plant investment in western Europe, by our industries.

Increases in employment are now moving up in line with increases in production. This is as was expected since increase in man-hour production averages about 3 per cent, but following recessions increases at faster rates, but recedes to the average as the business cycle settles into its upward swing.

Capital investment is expected to play a very important part in the expected upward surge in business expansion.

This predicted increase in plant investment is expected to result in boom conditions in 1962 and 1963 if there are no unusual factors powerful enough to change the trends.

Plan Fund Drive To Build Hall At 4-H Francis Field

Announcement of the "Capital Fund Drive" to raise the necessary money for the Exposition Hall at the 4-H Francis Field was made at the 27th annual 4-H honor roll banquet, held in Peotone about 300 people were in attendance.

H.G. Carr, division manager of the Northern Illinois Gas Co. will be campaign chairman of the fund drive which will seek help from business, industry and interested people throughout Will County. This drive is to open early in 1962.

Honored at the 4-H banquet were 4-H leaders. Mrs. Phil Goodwin of Wilmington a leader of the Wesley Busy Bees, with

L-W Athletes To Be Guests Of Businessmen

The business men of the four villages in the Lincoln-Way high school district, New Lenox, Manhattan, Frankfort and Mokena will be hosts to the school's athletes at a 7 o'clock dinner the night of Jan. 13. The dinner is to be served in Bruns restaurant at New Lenox.

Persons interested in assisting in this undertaking or attending may contact any one of the following five persons by next Tuesday, Jan. 9: Wendell Morrison, Frankfort 2461; Joseph Gregg, Manhattan, GR 8-3234; Earl Moss or Roy Pfeiffer, HU 5-8516 or Elias Brown, Mokena 2281.

The boys to be feted are members of Lincoln-Way's Varsity basketball, football, baseball and wrestling teams.

ATTEND MEETING OF Illinois Education Association at Chicago. Donald J. D'Amico (left) is assistant superintendent at Lincoln-Way high school and his companion here, LeRoy Wright, is head of the Frankfort grade school. The two men were delegates to the assembly of the IEA that considered problems in school finance, state revenue, and various subjects pertaining to education. The IEA is one of the agencies who will change the post of state superintendent of schools from an elective office to an appointive one.

Orland Park Resident 1st Traffic Fatality In State

First traffic fatality victim in Illinois in 1962 was reported to be an Orland Park resident, Mrs. Ann F. Pagano, 43, of 9511 West 135th street.

She was fatally injured early Monday morning when the automobile in which she was riding, driven by her husband, Frank Pagano, 44, went out of control and struck a tree. The accident occurred on U.S. 45 in Palos township, about two miles southeast of Willow Springs.

The couple was taken to the LaGrange hospital where Mrs. Pagano was pronounced dead on arrival. Mr. Pagano was held for observation and treatment.

He told police investigating the crash that he was temporarily blinded by the bright lights of an approaching car and this caused him to lose control of his automobile.

The Paganos formerly resided at Oak Lawn having come to Orland Park only recently.

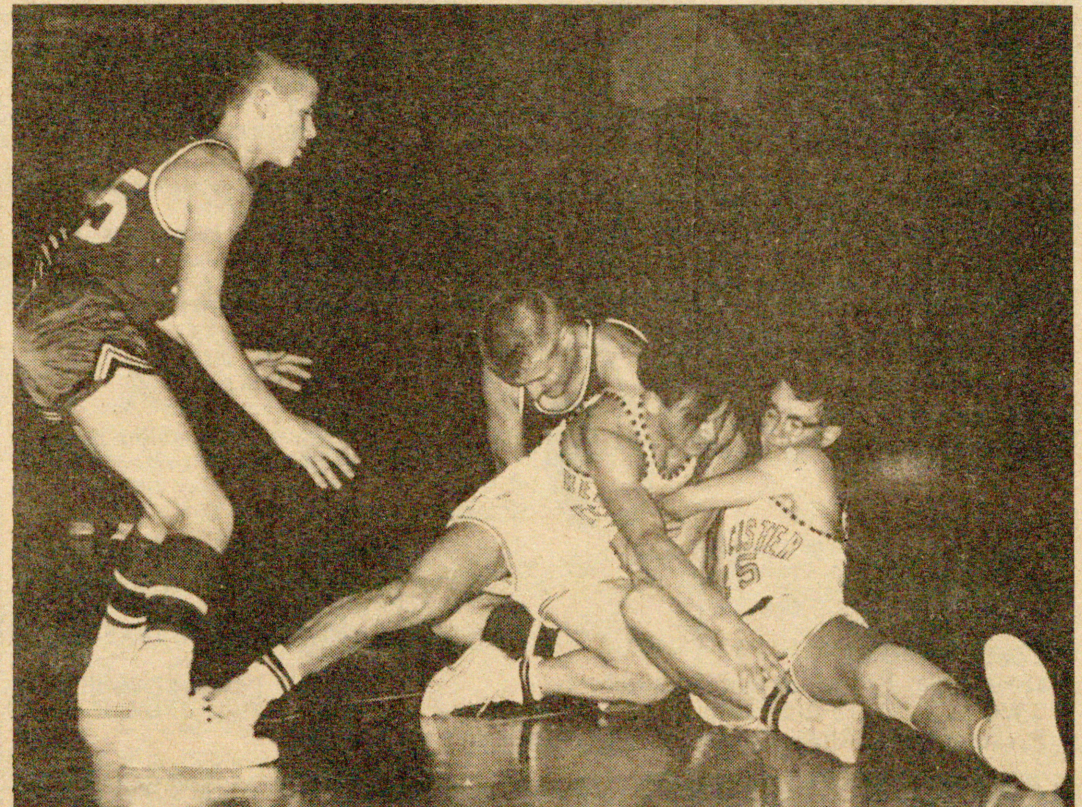

Besides her husband, Mrs. Pagano is survived by three sons, Frank, Ross and Joseph and two daughters, Barbara and Juliann. Her maiden name was Galemb and she was born June 4, 1918.

Funeral services will be held this morning (Jan. 4) at 1 o'clock from St. Albert the Great Roman Catholic church at Oak Lawn, with the Rev. Joseph Phalen officiating.

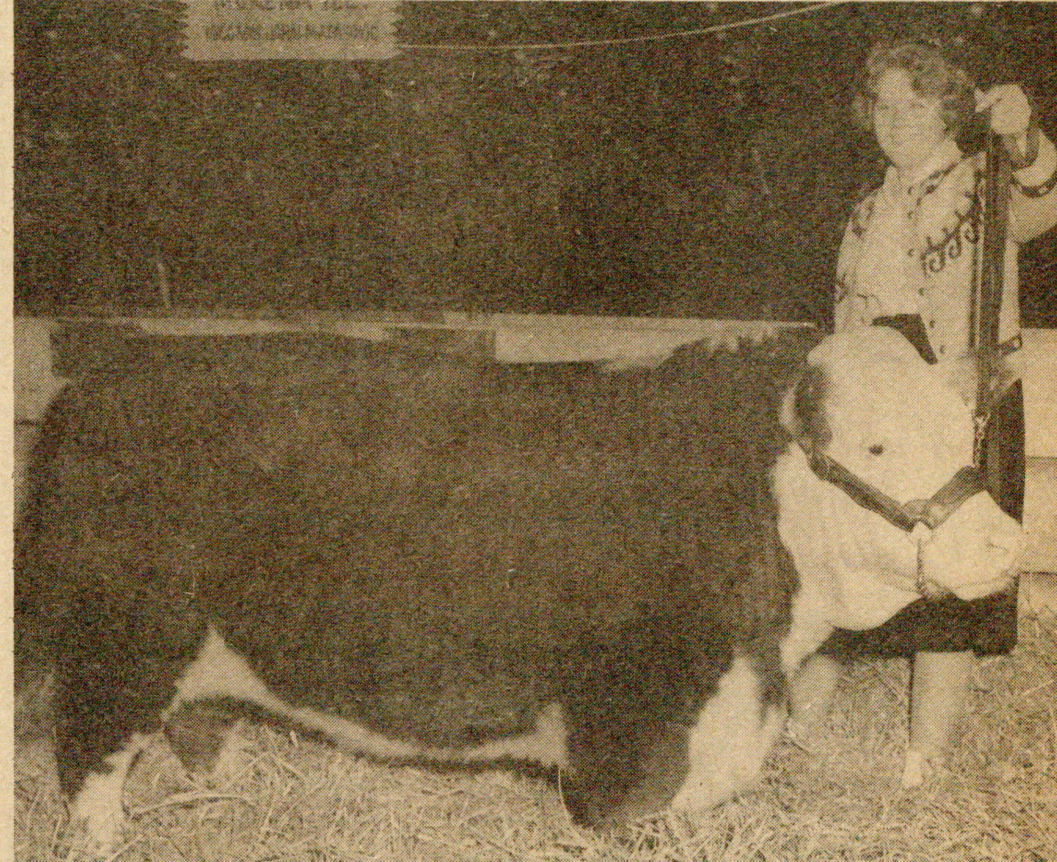

Hear Dr. Fischer

The Lincoln-Way High School Parent-Teacher group held its regular meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 3 at 8 p.m. at the high school.

Dr. Lowell Fischer, chairman of the Illinois State Committee of the North Central Association, will be a guest speaker for the meeting. Dr. Fischer will discuss the high school and college drop-out problem.

SITTING THIS ONE OUT?--It looks like the two Braidwood men might be battling for the ball, doesn't it? We suspect, however, that the young man in the dark jersey who appears to be kneeling is endeavoring to steal the ball for Lincoln-Way. The lad so occupied is Kurt Fredin. The young man at the left (standing) is Dan Lajcin. The Braidwood youths are Larry Love (left) and George Hibbard. (Semmler Photo)

stock show in Colorado and at the Houston Fat stock show in Texas. Her steer placed eighth in class at the International.

St. Jude Pupils Tour Museum At Hinsdale

The seventh and eighth grades from St. Jude's school of New Lenox recently went on a science field trip to the Hinsdale Health Museum at Hinsdale. The girls were accompanied by their teachers, Sister M. Monica, I.M., and Mrs. Virginia Leonhard.

The New Lenox visitors heard talks on the various exhibits by museum staff science teachers, and they saw a special film on the heart and circulation from the museum film library.

The New Lenox groups were among some 195 special groups which have toured the Health Museum during the current school year. Over 213,000 visitors have been welcomed at the midwest's only health museum since it was opened by The Kettering Family Foundation in May, 1958.

The Health Museum which stands at 40 S. Clay Street in Hinsdale is open the year round with the exception of legal holidays. Hours are daily from 9 to 5 and Sunday from 1 to 5 o'clock. Admission is free. Groups desiring guided lecture tours and film showings are asked to reserve time in advance, telephone Faculty 5-1900, or write Hinsdale Health Museum, Hinsdale, Illinois.

Workman Seeks Reelection As Will Co. Probate Clk.

Ellsworth B. (Neb) Workman, probate clerk of Will county is a candidate for re-election in the Republican primary this spring.

In making the announcement of his candidacy, Workman issued the following statement:

"In seeking re-election to the office of clerk of the probate court of Will county, I will be a candidate on the Republican ballot in the primary election of April 10, 1962. I am grateful for the support given me by the voters of Will county in the past, and if nominated in April and elected in the regular election in November of 1962, you may rest assured that your confidence will not be misplaced.

"My past experience and knowledge in this office are my qualifications, and I will guarantee the same service and respect for the people of Will county regardless of party affiliations. I have been a resident of the county all my life with the exception of three months at my birthplace which was Coal City, and now reside with my wife and son, Noel at 601 Cowles Avenue, Joliet. Before entering public office, I was employed by the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway Company.

"I have been very active in nearly all community and civic affairs for the past number of years, as well as various clubs and organizations. Again my sincere thanks to the voters for giving me the opportunity to serve the people of Will county, in the past, and hope that I will be able to serve them once again."

4-Hers Have Yule Party

FPD Opens Area Lakes For Ice Fishing

Five of the seven Forest Preserve lakes opened to ice fishing are in this area. John J. Duffy, president of the Board of Forest Preserve Commissioners, announced the opening of the lakes because of an increased interest in the sport in recent years.

The lakes, all stocked with largemouth bass and bluegills, are easily reached with just a short distance to travel.

Saganshke Slough, one of the most favorable spots, will not be open this year due to necessary repairs.

The lakes now open to ice fishing and their location are: McGinnis Slough, west of route 45 and north of Southwest Highway; Belly Deep Slough on route 45, 1/2 mile south of 95th street; Papoose Lake, south side of McCarthy Road (123rd st.) 1/4 mile west of route 45; Bullfrog Lake, 2 miles southwest of Willow Springs, 1/2 mile south of 95th street, 1/4 mile west of Wolf Road; Joe's Pond, Willow Springs Road, 1 mile south of 95th street.

Villages Get Sales Tax

Mokena joined with other communities in the area that have realized more than $1,000 in a month thru its share of the state sales tax. The check received in December covering sales in October was for $1,060.

Orland Park's share for the same period was $1,221 while that of New Lenox was $2,200, Frankfort received $943, Tinley Park's share was $2,805 and Manhattan's $454.

The amount of tax going to other cities and villages in the southwest area from October sales was:

The December meeting of the OPH Bunco club was held in the home of Barbara Borman. Gifts were exchanged via the grab bag. Bunco winners were: 1st prize Dorothy Gant, 2nd LaVerne Kukac, 3rd Esther Fuller, and Betty Sacco got the booby prize.

Santa appeared at the Orland Center Elementary School Christmas party and the children sang carols around the Christmas tree. The school held their very colorful Christmas program "Christmas Around the World" for the public on Dec. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lew are parents of their fifth child, a daughter, Patricia Gail, born on Dec. 15 at Silver Cross Hospital. Michael 7, Steven 5, Laurel 4 and Susan 15 months.

The Lincoln Log
FROSH CHORUS
The Freshman Chorus has been listening to Christmas carols, both American and foreign, sung by the Robert Shaw Choral, one of the best choral groups in the country. We not only have been listening to the beautiful stories the carols themselves tell, but also, the tone quality, rhythm, and harmony of the very small group.

We've been working on contest solos and will have the freshman contest after the first of the year. Tour director, Olson, has chosen three Freshmen representatives of this chorus who probably will compete in the all-school contest, Dennis Cappel -- unchanged voice, Linda Shreffler -- soprano, and Patty Hartnell -- mezzo -- soprano.

We've also been working steadily in our workbooks. Some of us are having a little trouble with sharps, flats, and recognizing key signatures.

We have begun to plan our concert, which is to be held in February. It is hoped we'll make enough money to payback the loan on our sweaters.

We have been singing mostly Christmas music. Some of it has been in two and three part harmony.

Arrangements for the executive meeting Thursday and the Freshman Chorus meeting are being made by Mr. Olson and Dennis Cappel. This meeting will deal mostly with our chorus sweaters.

"WHERE YOU SAVE DOES MAKE A DIFFERENCE"

THE COMMON MARKET

If American businessmen employed the same initiative and drive in foreign markets as they use in their domestic business, the United States could out-sell any competitors in the world. That is the view of L. F. McCollum, who is chairman of the Export Expansion Committee of the U.S. Department of Commerce, and also president of Continental Oil Company. He adds: "The economies of most industrialized nations are booming, and the needs of the underdeveloped countries are tremendous. The European Common Market alone soon will represent a market almost as big as the U.S. today. In the past few years it has been growing at a rate at least twice as fast as that of the U.S."

The Common Market is a force that can, and in all probability will, bring about something resembling an economic revolution in the world. It began, with comparatively little fanfare, in 1957, the original partners being France, West Germany, the Netherlands, Italy, Belgium and Luxembourg. Now Great Britain is joining, with certain reservations--the principal one concerning her agriculture. Other advanced European nations, including the Norwegian countries, Switzerland, Austria and Ireland are expected to come in.

The purpose of the Common Market is the establishment, over a period of time, of a vast free trade area, with tariff barriers erected against non-member nations. Beyond that, the Market is designed as an increasingly potent weapon to meet the Soviet economic offensive against the West. And that brings up the question of what the role of the United States should be and is to be in this transforming world.

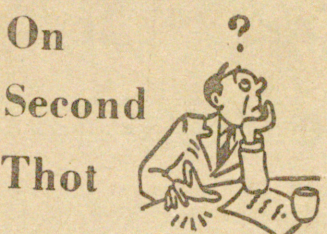

President Kennedy has asked for sweeping changes in the reciprocal trade law which will permit him to reduce our own tariffs, and to stimulate trade among the friendly powers. Former Secretary of State Acheson recently said, as quoted by the AP, that "the United States must move toward freer trade, particularly with the European Common Market, or run the danger of enhancing Soviet power by dividing the Western world." Many business leaders have said much the same thing.

This does not mean that the U.S. is going to become a formal, active participant in the Market in the foreseeable future--though, ultimately, the certainly could happen. It does mean that American producers--including those with factories abroad as well as here--are thinking in terms of new problems, new situations, and new opportunities.

There is opposition to the Common Market concept, just as there is to a reduction in our tariffs and an increase in our imports. It comes from several areas. Some businesses still would like a high, exclusive tariff policy. So would some labor spokesmen, who fear the effect of stimulated trade on our high-wage, high-fringe-benefit working force. Still a third is of a very different character--a fear, as a North American Newspaper Alliance writer puts it, "that the great dream of a single and unified Europe, if a political and economic blessing, may turn out to be a cultural nightmare"--by, little by little, making all the nations alike. The world will certainly become a drabber place if that should be the case.

In any event, the Common Market is here to stay--and is destined to become a major element in the material life of the Western world. And we, as the world's foremost single producer, must understand it and deal with it.

Editorials

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Last week this column was devoted to the selection of Christmas toys from a safety angle. Authorities were agreed that it was risky business to let small fry get their eager little hands on anything little sharp, pointed or poisonous. Researchers also indicated it was just as well to keep the deers away from pistols, rifles, shotguns or crossbows lest they give you the business -- Powl Powl Powl

Your correspondent had no intention of returning to the subject of toys this week. His premises are free of moppets and therefore, there are no lethal devices scattered about the floors or steps over which an unwary adult may trip, slide, fall or become entangled to his undoing.

Into this department the subject of toys was more or less academic. Being neither mechanic nor inventor your correspondent is a person who can take his toys or leave them alone.

The toy problem had always appeared a simple one. One went to a store or entered into a contract with Santa for a certain number and kind of toys and that was all there was to it. When the toys were delivered they were finished products, all complete and ready to be broken or torn apart by the recipients.

That is how little I knew about it until last week when my cousin Bill Carter and his wife, Arlene, arrived for a brief stop on a tour around the world that began at Terhan Nov. 19 and will end there Jan. 15. Both are experienced travelers and seemingly tireless. So it was somewhat of a shock when I met them at Midway on Christmas day to find Bill with dark circles under his eyes, his usually firm step was inclined to falter and there was a faint tremor to his hands.

It couldn't have been the trip. Since arrival stateside several weeks ago they had broken their journey many times to visit with relatives and friends. For example when I met them they had come up from St. Louis, a trip of about two hours.

I expressed concern. "I'm all right," Bill said, "a little rest... unless..." and there was apprehension in his tone. "By any chance," he wanted to know, "are we... are you planning on taking any toys to any children?"

My "no" seemed to relax him.

"That's fine," he said and he appeared to be more himself. "I just couldn't cope with any more toys--for the time being anyway."

As we drove Bill talked. These people with whom they had been visiting at St. Louis were friends of long standing. They have two boys -- young.

"I knew we would get there three days before Christmas," he went on, "so figured we could pick up some toys and things there. There's nothing to buying toys. At least that is what I always thought. You see something you like and so are pretty sure that little Jimmy or little Betty will like it too, so you buy and deliver it or tuck it under the Christmas tree and that's all there is to it."

Indignation stirred his voice: "And by golly, that is all there was to it until this new breed of toymakers took over with their push-buttons and cost accountants and electronic 'brains'."

"The image I always carried of toymakers was that of a kindly, benevolent old gentleman, with friendly eyes, ruddy cheeks and a great pride in his work... someone on the order of Santa himself," Bill continued, "but I see him now as a shrewd, cold-eyed, short-changing sort of bloke with about as much feeling as to be found in the robots he makes. Like Barnum he has discovered there is a bountiful supply of suckers and he's hauling them in."

"I suspect," Bill went on, "that the toymakers of today--some of them at least--were the do-it-yourself kit-makers of yesterday. They saw what a good thing they had going there and decided to expand it to toy making."

"Well," he continued, "Arlene and I visited several toy departments and when we saw a toy we thought would do we'd point it out to a clerk and the clerk would dive under the counter or go to some other region and come up with a box stapled or pasted shut -- out of stock, they'd explain, I don't know what would happen if a customer insisted on taking the toy that was on display."

"Anyway, we completed our purchases and took them to the house. Then last night, Christmas Eve, we waited until the kids got to bed and then brought out the toys. I figured that it would be a 15-minute job at the outside, including the time it would take to free the toys from the boxes they came in. All one had to do, as I recalled was to pull the toy out of the box, set it down and that was that... Jee-bers, Nellie!

"I think it was about 10:30 when we started. I think it was around 4:00 this morning when we finished. Why, those darned toys were unfinished. The ones we saw in the stores were all complete and in operation but not the ones we brought home. I can see why they gave you a stapled or pasted package in the store. If you ever had a chance to look in the box you wouldn't take it out of the store."

"The stuff is all unfinished. Before we could put a toy under the tree we had to put it together. I had paid some 20 dollars for a space helmet. One was supposed to be able to send and receive messages among other things but all that stuff had to be put together and when he had it assembled it wouldn't work. There was a robot too. No one told us when we bought it that you had to have batteries, for that matter no one told us you needed batteries for the space helmet so we had to become battery snatchers in an effort to get them going. Some of the nuts and bolts were missing and in a little work bench that was part of a deal there weren't any holes for the legs nor any provision for mail or to screw them on. We had a toy piano there too and the legs were there but no place to attach them."

"We had a truck that looked right on the counter but the one we bought had to be put together and there were some screws missing. We had some wooden toys and one of them had a part missing -- a small part true -- but without it the darned thing wouldn't hold together. And in most instances there weren't any instructions."

"By the time we rummaged around and borrowed nuts, bolts and screws from various household appliances as well as neighbors it was 4 o'clock in the morning. Our host -- who discovered that many of their purchases were unfinished toys -- was getting all thumbs -- as I had been for hours and if it hadn't been for our wives I doubt if there would have been any toys ready. They persevered and finally got all of them so at least they looked like they were finished. There was one, however, that had to do with space. It looked quite complicated. There were no instructions. But stapled on the outside of the box was this notice from the store that sold it:

"If you are having difficulty getting this together send $2 to the manufacturer. Don't bother us. We don't know how either."

"I've had it as far as toys are concerned this year," Bill wound up, "but our experience this Christmas will stand us in good stead next. Instead of sending toys to kids we know we will just send their parents a tool kit and a package of assorted nuts, bolts, screws and nails."

The Upper Room

Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it. (Proverbs 22:6.)

When one day I visited a family belonging to my church, the son 13 years of age came bursting into the house. He cried out, "Mother, what do you think the teacher gave us for homework? It reads like this: 'A visit to myself fifteen years from now!' How do I know how it will be then?"

As he suddenly became aware of my presence, he turned to me and said, "Preacher, please help me to make this 'fifteen years from now' good."

I looked into his eager eyes and asked, "Egil, you belong to Christ and love Him, don't you?"

"Sure I do, I always will," was his reply. "Well, then, do you think that Christ will change very much in fifteen years?"

In response, I got a rapid, "Oh, no!"

If fifteen years this boy probably will have his own home. If he keeps this course, he will let the family altar and the Bible have an honored place, will be guided by the Holy Spirit.

PRAYER: God and Father, help us this day, this year, and all our years to be in Christ's presence looking forward with Him to what is ahead. Grant us always to count on Him. In His name we pray. Amen.

Arbury Hills

Summit Hill PTA To Meet At School Next Thursday

MRS. EDWARD HOVI Mokena 5740

The first meeting of the Summit Hill Parent Teacher Group for the new year 1962, will be held on Thursday evening, Jan. 11, at 8 o'clock in the Summit Hill school in Arbury Hills.

There will be a Home Service Advisor from the gas company, Mrs. Ruden, who will discuss the laundry problems involved in getting clothes both clean and white with our water being less than zero-soft in Arbury Hills and the surrounding areas of rural Summit Hills district.

The Fifth Grade mothers will act as hostesses for the evening, and will serve the refreshments available that night.

Mrs. Gilbert's fifth grade pupils again won the student attendance plaque, which was donated by the Parent Teacher Group, for the greatest attendance at school by the pupils for the month of December. Mrs. Gilbert's room had also won this award for the previous month of November. Double congratulations!

An award of $2.00 is also given at each meeting of the Parent Teacher Group for the greatest attendance of the parents for each grade at school on the night of the meeting. Mrs. Gilbert's room again came off first in this respect.

Remember, that the monthly meeting of the Arbury Hills Civic Association has been rescheduled for Tuesday, January 9, due to the holidays. The meeting will be held at the school at 8:00 p.m.

The Bingo Club will hold its session tonight (Thursday), January 4 at 8:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Fink of 9527 West Rosewood Lane.

The Arbury Hills Baby Sitters Cooperative will hold its next regular monthly meeting on Wednesday evening, January 10, at 8:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William O'Neill at 19327 South Oak Street.

If you do intend to be present for the meeting, please contact Mrs. O'Neill at Mokena 5155 before the day of the meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Plumly were visited for the Christmas week end by Mrs. Plumly's sister, Mrs. Pearl Casey who came in from her home in Topeka, Kansas.

Mr. Plumly had to take the same week end to attend the funeral of his grandfather who died at the age of ninety-eight

Ray Razor of 9449 West Birch Street, is now on a fast bout with scarlet fever. All the new antibiotics are wonders in curing what was once such a horror to mothers.

I know one woman who, despite the hot weather, drives around with the windows closed in her car--so everybody will think it's airconditioned.

NEW LENOX STATE BANK had completed its addition and the remodeling program which provided a new front for the original building in time for it to be put in use before the close of 1961. Expansion of the bank's business and in anticipation of the community's growth the directors and officers embarked on a building program last year. As a consequence New Lenox now has a bank that is modern in all its features. (Semmler Press Photo)

WILL COUNTY SCHOOLS can now be reached simultaneously by radio in the event of an emergency or disaster. The transmitter is atop the water tower at Frankfort, thru permission of the village board. This picture was taken when the equipment was installed last March under the auspices of the Will county civil defense set-up. Those two men standing on the top of that ladder were as unconcerned about the thinness of their perch as if they had wings instead of arms. Messages to the schools can be sent out from the office of County Superintendent Verne E. Crackel. Expense of the installation of the transmitter was paid out of CD funds and the ED also gave the schools assistance in buying receivers to make up the system. (Robert Porter photo)

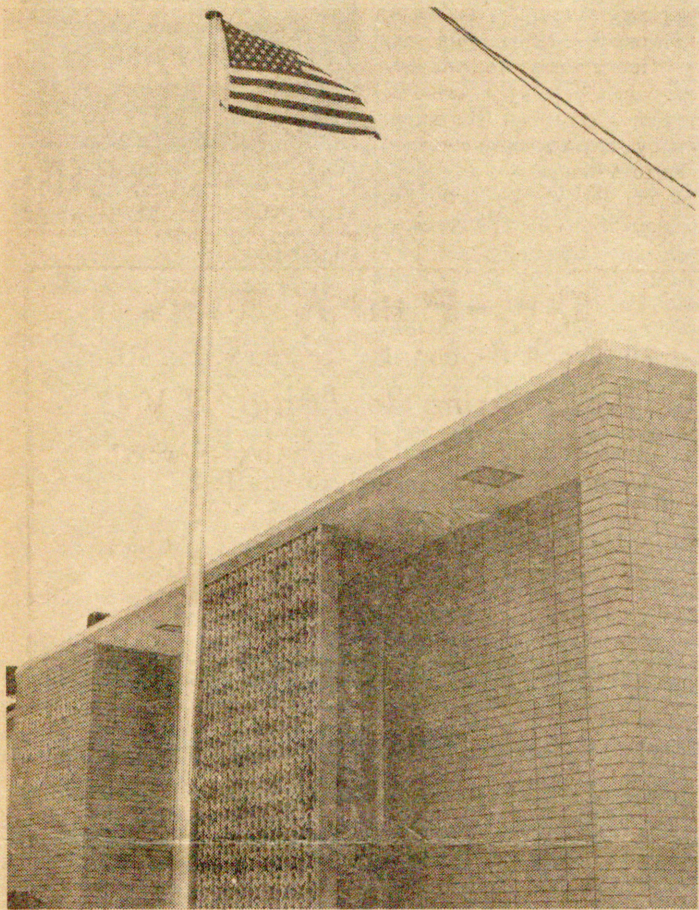

AN ADDITION AND NEW FRONT for its quarters gives the Frankfort state bank one of the most modern institutions of its kind in the area. Business and the community have been growing and the bank is keeping pace with the trend. It offers all of the services one finds in large city banks. (Semmler Press Photo)

1961 IN PICTURES

A Review of the Year

NEW LENOX has a new post office. The building was constructed in 1961 and opened for use just in time to serve Postmaster Lester Brown and his staff in handling the Christmas mail. The new post office is located on S. Cedar road, near the intersection of Hickory. (Semmler Press Photo)

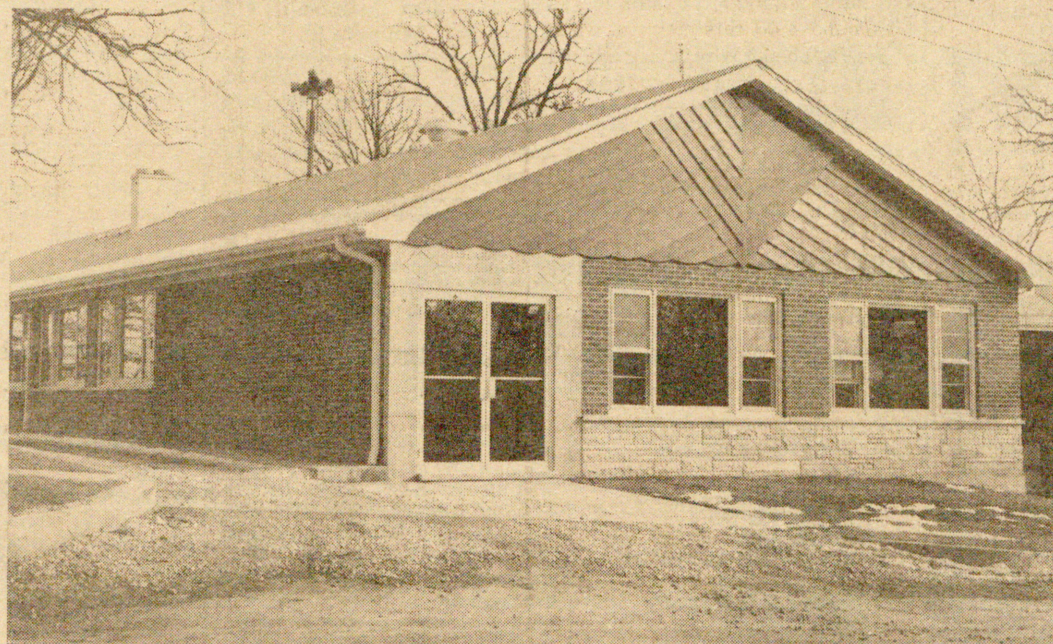

DEDICATION OF ORLAND PARK village hall was held last April and the council chamber was filled with visitors for the occasion. Mayor W. R. Schussler Jr., presided and is the one standing. The occasion also served as open house for the fire department. Their part of the building had been in use for some months but no formal visit had been paid by the public up to that time. (Semmler Press Photo)

CHRISTMAS was a big event in 1961 and likewise for Timmy Moulis of 208 Lincoln highway, New Lenox. It was Timmy's first Christmas and he liked it. Things were happening pretty fast when this picture was taken and apparently he was wondering what was coming next. Timmy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Moulis, Jr.

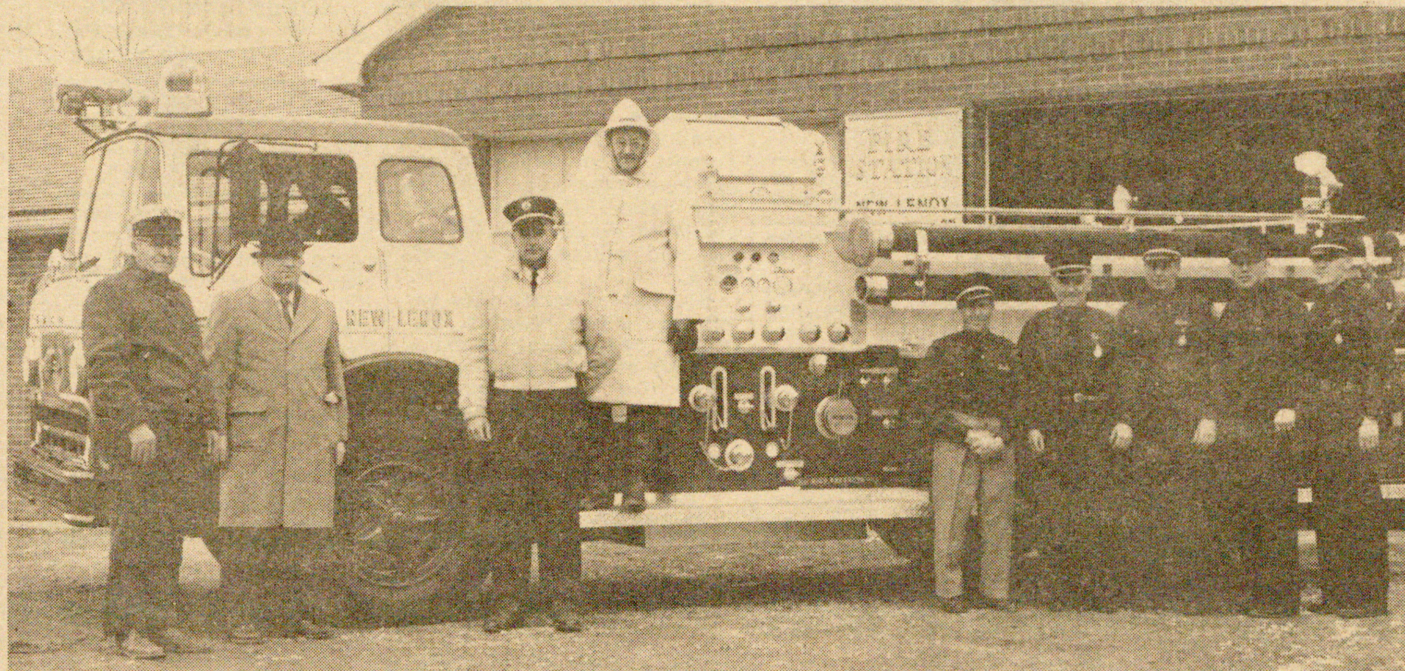

ORLAND PARK'S NEW VILLAGE HALL was put into use the first of the year. Built as an addition to the quarters of the Orland Park Volunteer Fire Department on Beacon street the village hall is also available for other community meetings.

The village board is justifiably proud of the fact that the building was erected out of funds on hand and when it was completed it was paid for without bond issue or special tax. (Semmler Press Photo)

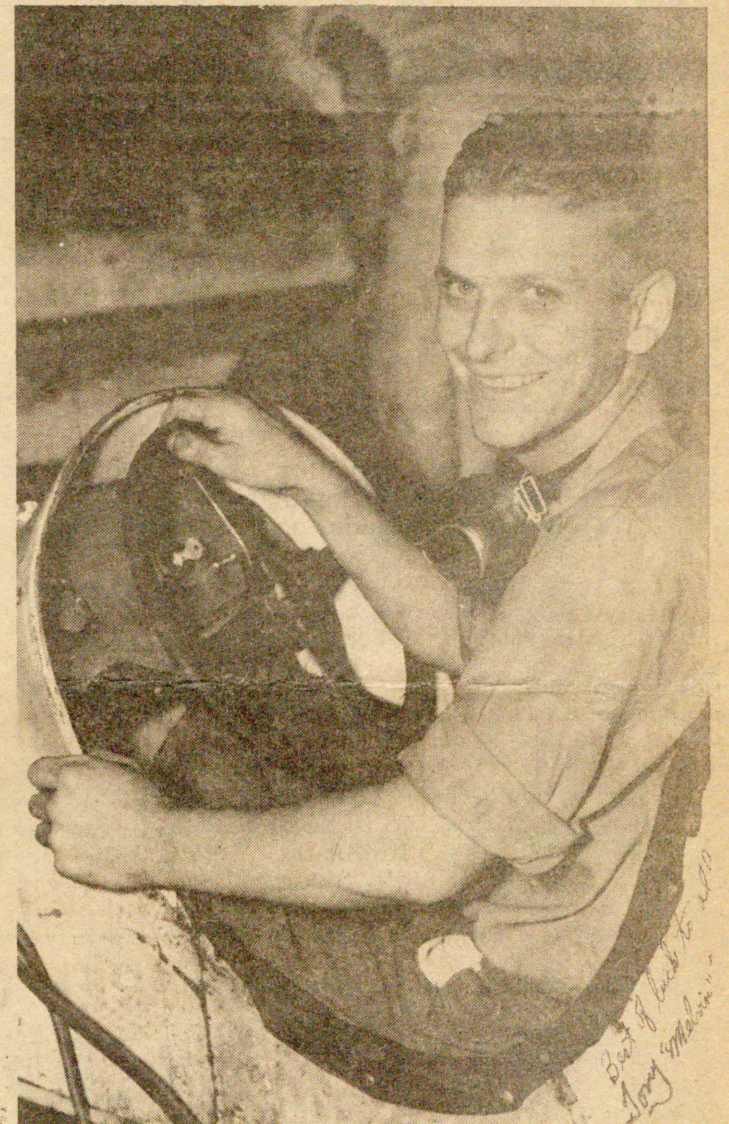

SHARE SKILLS--students at Carl Sandburg high school who specialize in swimming and water sports have been spending much of their spare time in the school pool in serving as instructors for the handicapped youngsters who attend the Lt. Joseph Kennedy school at Wolf and McCarthy roads.

A NEED MET -- The New Lenox Volunteer Fire Dept. needed a new pumper and the trustees of the New Lenox fire protection district ordered one. The vehicle was delivered last February, a detail from the department having gone to Lansing, Mich. to become instructed in the handling of the apparatus. The men drove the pumper back to New Lenox. (Semmler Press photo)

TONY BETTENHAUSEN, of Tinley Park, veteran big time automobile race driver had often striven to take the "big one," the 500 mile classic at Indianapolis but success had always eluded him. Last May Tony was looked upon as the probable winner of the 1961 race and then it happened. Shortly before Memorial day Tony was tuning up a car for a friend when it climbed the wall at Indianapolis. Tony had walked away from worse looking wrecks on several occasions but this time he didn't. Friends are conducting a campaign for a fund with which to build a hospital in his name, somewhere in the area.

"LEST WE FORGET" was the theme of the caption for this picture which was used in the Memorial Day edition of the Semmler Press newspapers last May. The picture is not a pretty one but war is not pretty either. Incidentally this picture won an award in the annual contest conducted by Illinois newspapers. (Bob McDonald Photo)

Patrick Fenton Home Wins First In Contest

MRS. DELORES ANDERSON
Tel. HU 5-3651

Winners in the outdoor Christmas lighting contest held Sunday night, sponsored by the local Association of Commerce were: first place, Patrick Fenton, E. 4th Ave., whose decorations were the Nativity scene, Santa and his reindeers, and lighting about the house. Second place went to Edward Lubway W. Francis Rd., who had general lighting about the home and drive-way; and third place to Jack Shonkwiler, Wisconsin road, who built a house over the entrance way, Santa display in the yard and lighting about the home and windows.

Prizes for the winners were $15, $10, and $5 gift certificates. Judges in the contest commented on the many decorations in New Lenox this year, and congratulated the residents of E. 4th Ave., and Maple Lane, where the greatest majority of residents decorated.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Johnson have returned home from Pslip-pin, Ark., where they spent the Christmas holidays visiting with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Swanson.

St. Jude's Parent's Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the school hall for its first meeting of the new year.

VFW Post 9545 will meet tonight at the fire station on Church street for its monthly meeting.

The New Lenox Association of Commerce will meet Tuesday, Jan. 9, for its first meeting of the new year. It will be a noon luncheon in Fellowship hall at the Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tatro and family entertained at a family dinner in their home on Christmas day. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Tatro of Joliet and Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Tatro and children.

Miss Jackie Edman of Princeton is spending the holidays here with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Falck and family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Walsh it for their home at Saugatuck, Michigan, Friday, after spending the past two weeks here with their daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Len Anderson, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schroeder and their families.

Mrs. Ed Tatro, 150 Maple Lane, entertained the members of her club last Thursday evening, at a Christmas party. Following the 6:30 dinner pinocle was played and a gift exchange was held. Guests were Mrs. Joseph Videtich, Mrs. John Colombo, Mrs. Richard James of Joliet, and Mrs. Ed Falck of New Lenox.

Miss Margaret Campbell, in nurses' training at Silver Cross hospital, spent a few days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell, over the holidays.

Mrs. Ed Tatro entertained the members of the Silver Cross hospital business office at a Christmas party Monday evening in her home.

At a recent meeting of the New Lenox fire department the annual election of officers was held. Results were president, Stanley Ekedahl; vice president, George Ellis; secretary, Joseph Ingram; treasurer, Wade Krohn; sergeant-at-arms, George (Ike) Moore; and trustees, Frank Chandler, Paul Bachmann, and Ed Piercing.

From the proceeds from the raffle held several weeks ago, the department is now purchasing new jackets for the dress uniforms, boots, helmets and rain coats.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ingram have returned home from Tower Hill, Ill., where they spent the New Year holidays with her mother and sister, Mrs. B.T. Nichols, and Miss Audrey Nichols.

State honor member Ramona Kaatz and county outstanding member Judy West from the Klover K-9's 4-H dog club, with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Olson (Klover K-9 leader) attended the 27th annual 4-H Honor Roll banquet held Thursday, Dec. 28, at the Fair Ground in Peotone.

The turkey dinner was followed by an introduction and welcome of guests. Leaders were presented with various awards and certificates honoring the number of years they have served.

Mrs. E. C. Olson received the first year honor pin, being the only woman agriculture leader.

On the committee for the evening affair, Miss Judy West participated in the candlelighting ceremony.

The winner of the Agriculture Scrapbook competition this year was the Klover K-9 club which received a perfect score sheet. Members were awarded an engraved plaque which they will hold for one year, or until won by another club.

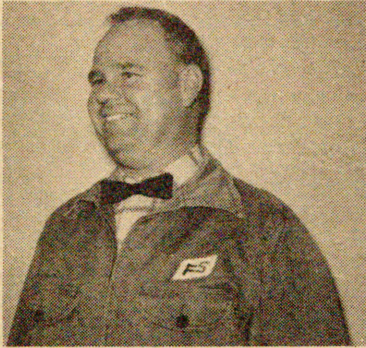

The Klover K-9's 4-H dog club will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in the Farm Bureau office building on Manhattan road in Joliet.

There will be a Milo Pearsall training movie shown. There will be two guests, Mrs. Harold W. Clark from the Hallmark Boxer Kennels of Mokena, and Mrs. Walter Houchin of New Lenox. Mrs. Clark will give pointers to the boys and girls on judging boxers, and Mrs. Houchin will talk on judging Dachshunds.
